Disease Continues to Spread at

The above new cases of typhoid fever make a total of sixty-three cases now in the city. The daily list turned in to the health authorities is gradually growing larger. The disease appears to be spreading with a rapidity that has not characterized other recent epidemics.

The people of the city, as well as the health authorities, are becoming much alarmed and are bestirring themselves to have supposed causes of the contagion investigated. The condition of the water from flowing wells as discovered by the city chemist has apparently awakened the public to the danger from this source.

Yesterday half a dozen persons called at the board of health and requested that their wells be tested for impurities. A number of others telephoned in similar requests. Some of those who went out to the office to have their wells tested with them and seemed surprised that they could not get a complete analysis at once. They are all anxious to learn as quickly as possible just what kind of water they are using, and the indications are that the city chemist will be kept rather busy for some time to come hunting for disease-producing impurities in well water.

Filthy Shallow Well.
A number of those who called at the board of health yesterday and asked that their wells be examined stated that they had city water in their homes, but had been using the well water because it looked to be better than the supply from the canyons.

The water from many of the wells is clearer and much colder than that from the city pipes, but a little investigation on the part of the sanitary inspectors has brought to light some startling facts in regard to the kind of water used by some of Salt Lake's citizens. One instance was found where a small well that runs so slowly that it requires an hour to collect two gallons of water was being used by several families. The well was placed under the iron pipe to catch the drippings from it. This well, it is said, is only a few feet deep and the little water that flows into it goes through a stratum of the most foul and filthy earth. Other wells have been found that are almost as bad, it is said.

Samples of water from three different wells were taken by City Chemist Harms yesterday to be tested. The work of analyzing the water was begun yesterday afternoon, but it will not be completed until today, as it requires nearly twenty-four hours to get a complete test and accurate results. This work will be carried on as fast as possible, and the wells condemned as soon as they are discovered to be contaminated.

OLD PEST HOUSE IS GONE.

Isolation Hospital at Mouth of Parley's Canyon Burned Up.

Blackened walls and smoldering embers are all that are left to mark the former site of the old isolation hospital. About sunrise yesterday morning the building was destroyed by fire. The work of destruction had the sanction of Mayor Ezra Thompson, and was supervised by two members of the fire department, Dr. M. R. Stewart and Board of Health Inspectors R. F. Woodard and W. J. Korth.

EX-WIFE ACCUSES OLD HUSBY

Mrs. Benson Says Former Husband Threatened Her Life.

Assault with a deadly weapon is the charge which Joseph Benson must answer to Justice E. Brown of Draper. The accusation is made by Mrs. Carrie Benson, defendant's divorced wife. The complaint was issued yesterday by Assistant County Attorney Whitaker, at the request of the woman.

GIVES CUSTOMERS OUTING.

Auerbach Dry Goods Company Distributes Saltair Tickets.

The customers of F. Auerbach & Bros. Dry Goods company will be given an outing today at Saltair. The indications are that the crowd will be one of the largest that has visited that resort this season. Ample preparations have been made by the Saltair company to accommodate thousands of people.

For two weeks or more the dry goods company has been giving a free ticket to Saltair to every customer who purchased $1 worth of goods. The result has been that the store has done an enormous business, people visiting the establishment for the purpose of securing a free ticket. Those who got more than one distributed them among their friends.

In view of the outing the store will close late this afternoon for the remainder of the day. That will enable the employees to visit the great pavilion and take advantage of the bathing and dancing.

ESTATE SECURES JUDGMENT.

Bingham Mining Company Must Pay
For Curran's Death.

A judgment for $600 was entered yesterday by Judge Charles W. Morse of the district court against the Bingham Copper & Gold Mining company for the death of Conrad Curran. The suit was brought by Alexander S. Fowler, administrator of the estate. It was alleged in the complaint that on Aug. 26, 1902, deceased was killed by a portion of the roof of defendant's mine falling upon him and crushing him so badly that he died almost immediately thereafter.

The suit was for $3,000. Of that sum $2,500 was for the death of Curran. The remainder represented the wages defendant would have received during the succeeding twenty-six weeks after his death, he carrying an insurance covering the same.

Question of Jurisdiction.

An important question of jurisdiction is involved in the petition for a writ of review filed in the district court yesterday in the suit of H. and Anna Christensen vs. the justice's court in and for Murray. J. P. McOmie, justice of the court, the affidavit upon application for the writ alleged that May 7 O. H. Pike and wife commenced an action against H. and Anna Christensen in the Murray justice's court to recover $80. It is contended by the plaintiffs that inasmuch as they and H. A. Pike and wife all reside in Farmers' ward, the judgment secured is invalid. The action should have been begun in that jurisdiction and not in Murray. An appeal cannot be taken in the case now because the time for appeal has long since expired.

Minnie Leyson Wants Divorce.

Minnie Leyson has brought an action for divorce from Joseph Leyson on the grounds of desertion. She asks the custody of the child, David Leyson, aged 18. The couple were married at Butte, Mont., June 25, 1884. The desertion is alleged to have occurred on May 20, 1889.

TROUBLES OF A DRUMMER.

Landed in Jail After a Drive With a Strange Woman.

Charles Hahn, a drummer from Chicago, had a series of misfortunes early yesterday morning that is hard to equal. Hahn had taken a strange woman out driving with him, and the pair spent the evening in drinking and visiting the resorts. When the ride was finished Hahn discovered that he was shy $30 and at once had the woman arrested. The police authorities took little stock in his story at the time, but decided to hold the woman on suspicion of inebriation.

Hahn was discovered about an hour later asleep on the front steps of the police station. He was considerably under the influence of liquor and was locked up and booked on the charge of being drunk. When he awoke the next morning in jail he viewed the affair of the previous evening in a different light and decided that he must have spent the money that he believed was stolen. Accordingly he did not swear to a complaint against the woman, and she was released. As it was his first appearance before Judge Tanner, he was discharged on the charge of being intoxicated.

COMES FROM BAD LANDS.

Arizona Sheriff Tells of Experiences
With Criminals.

Sheriff J. A. Roberts of Prescott, Ariz., arrived in this city yesterday and will return today or tomorrow with A. A. Pratt, who was arrested here several days ago and who is wanted in Arizona on a charge of forgery. Sheriff Roberts secured extradition papers yesterday afternoon from Governor Wells. Mr. Roberts took very kindly to Salt Lake and seemed greatly impressed with the quietness and order here.

"Down in my country there are not many people as here, but what they are in numbers they make up in spirit," said he. "I have just returned from Cananea, Mexico, and stopped one night at the works of the Green Consolidated Copper company. There happened to be four more sheriffs and deputies at the camp that same night. None of us had any particular business at the works, but merely stopped there over night. It became noised about who we were, and the next morning the company did not have enough men left to run the mill, and had to suspend business. The men evidently imagined that we were after them and skipped out. That country is a veritable haven for criminals of every class."

PLENTY OF SCHOLARSHIPS.

Little Demand Made For Those in the University of Utah.

Free scholarships in the University of Utah, entitling the appointee to a four-year course, are going begging. Fifty are given each year, and as a usual thing the applicants outnumber the scholarships two and three to one. This year the board of education has received but two applications. They have been sent in by the county superintendents and are subject to approval by the board of education. The twelve applications received follow:

CLIMBERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Zionists Caught in Snowstorm on Frankel Twin Peaks.

ALMOST PERISHED IN COLD

MANY HOURS ARE SPENT IN A PERILOUS POSITION.

Caught by a severe gale and snowstorm on the dizzy and dangerous heights of the Frankel Twin Peaks, a party of eight Salt Lake residents were forced to spend hours Wednesday in a most perilous position. For some time they had to cling to the rocky peak of the mountain to prevent being blown down the steep sides into a yawning abyss.

Half overtaken by the blizzard, they had scarcely gotten an opportunity to start down the mountain when they were caught in a blinding snowstorm. The wind blew the snow into their eyes until they were almost blinded, and they were forced to crawl down the rocky declivity on hands and knees. After spending a half day traveling down the mountain, the party succeeded in reaching Brighton without suffering any serious results from the exposure and trying experiences.

Bad Blizzard in August.

Those in the party were Dr. A. C. Behle, Harold and Will Brown, Frank and Lawrence Jodice, Miss Brooks, Miss Terese Jodice and Grete Tron Brown. The members of the party had been camping at Brighton for some days and early Wednesday morning they started out to scale the highest peak.

This particular peak is 11,900 feet above sea level, and portions of its sides are cliffs nearly perpendicular and over which it is almost impossible to climb. By crawling on hands and knees the party managed to reach the summit at noon, it having taken them just six hours to make the climb. According to the story told by a member of the party who reached the city yesterday, the climbers had scarcely finished their luncheon when a blizzard burst upon them.

The wind blew a gale, and in a few moments every member of the party was shivering as if it were midwinter instead of the 26th of August. The wind reached an estimated velocity of about thirty-five miles per hour. The climbers were on the rocky peak when the wind got full sweep at them, and they were forced to cling to the rocks to prevent being blown down the steep sides.

Built Fire to Keep Warm.

"We managed to huddle behind a protecting rock," said one of the party, "and protect ourselves. It was bitter cold and we nearly froze. The wind died down after a while and we started down the mountain. We hadn't gotten to Lake Minnie when the wind began to blow, again and the snow began to fall. It came thick and fast. The precipitation was not so heavy, but the wind blew it so furiously as to almost blind one. Some of the members of the party became alarmed and thought we were going to be snowed in. We crawled over the steep and slippery sides of the mountain and managed to land at Lake Minnie before the snowstorm was over."

"We were so cold when we got there that it became necessary to make a fire before we could go further. We managed to get hold of some sagebrush and mountain bushes and made a small fire on the bank of the lake. Then the party formed a circle about the blaze and roasted on one side while the other froze on the other. The fire felt too good to leave and we remained there until the storm passed over. The sun came out again and we were able to make the rest of the trip without danger or inconvenience, but we did not reach camp until late in the evening."

Rheumatism.

When pains or irritation exist on any part of the body, the application of Ballard's Snow Liniment gives prompt relief. E. W. Sullivan, Prop. Sullivan House, El Reno, Ok. T., writes, June 6, 1902: "I take pleasure in recommending Ballard's Snow Liniment to all who are afflicted with rheumatism. It is the only remedy I have found that gives immediate relief." 25c, 50c, $1.00. Sold by Z. C. McLaughlin, Drug Dept.

DIED IN POVERTY.

Career of a Notorious Republican
Politician Closed.

New York, Aug. 27.—John L. Davenport, formerly United States supervisor of elections, whose death has just occurred at Samped, Conn., was once a power in Republican politics in this city. After serving through the civil war he became a newspaper correspondent at Washington.

In 1888, when congress appointed a committee to investigate election frauds in New York, Davenport was made the secretary of the Union League Club committee which had the matter in charge. This marked his start in politics. Upon the enactment of a law for the federal supervision of elections he was the first appointee as supervisor in this city. He continued in this post until 1892, when the bill was repealed.

It was Davenport's custom to make arrests on the night before election, and his prisoners, men of all sorts, were thrown into a cage which he had built in a room of the general post-office. The cage brought his builder much notoriety.

Davenport, who was at one time accounted a wealthy man, is said to have died in comparative poverty.
